Do you plan on attending FSMTA Conferences in the future?

No. Hope to if I can work it in my schedule

Yes. I hope to attend if the venue is close and my child/ren are not as needy

Yes. I hope to be at the 2009 conference

6

I plan to attend sometimes

I do not know

maybe

9

possibly

10

Yes, if ever I can afford it.

11

I have moved, so the chance of me attending a FSMTA is very slim. I am now a CO MTNA member

12

Maybe? Seems more programed to piano rather than stringed instruments (violin).

13

Yes. Next year District 1.

14

Yes. Only because I have to as District board member.

15

No. Retirement looms, so probably not.

16

PERHAPS - Closing in on retirement

17

No. Retired from active teaching in 2003

18

It depends on the situation..time, money and of interest

19

No. Too far from home and at an inconvenient time

20

Yes. To present and to meet other colleagues in the field

21

If it is held in the fall, I will attend. Not in June.

22

Maybe, depends on time and location

23

No. Too busy. I give Sat. lessons 9 am - 1:00 pm

24

Yes. I think they are very valuable

25

No, it wasn't stimulating enough to make me want to do it again

26

Yes. Professional development and meetings that I should attend

27

Yes. I am seriously considering NOT to attend every year, because of what I have witnessed over that past 4-5 years. The professionalism is waning.

28

No. The workshops I attended were a lot of talk with nothing really gained. The concerts are great, but I don't need to go to a conference to hear a concert.

29

Yes. It is very important to me to get my yearly "Booster Shot" of workshops, performances, chance to browse the exhibits and reconnect with my FSMTA friends and make new acquaintances

30

I would like to... so yes. (attend a conference)

31

Maybe is a better answer. Conferences are too expensive. Also I don't like presentations by vendors which are not identified as such. When music publishers send folk to sell their own compositions these presentations should not be presented as if they are the same as experts helping us become better piano teachers.

32	No. I have never had the desire to attend because I don't know what benefits can be derived from attending.
33	Maybe
34	Yes. But only if they are in the FALL as before.
35	Yes. Distance does play a part--like three or four hours versus 9-10
36	No. No longer teaching
37	Thus far the conferences are on days when I either have teaching or performance obligations.
38	Maybe
39	No. Incomes are going down, fees are going up...too much for just a mostly social event!
40	teachers in the organization. I appreciate that this organization supports many student activities for young musicians.
41	Probably not. I am retired.
42	Yes. they are informational and inspiring
43	Maybe
44	Unsure; My priorities are pedagogy conferences then contests/competitions for my kids, my own piano lessons. etc. Another biggy is travel costs. Outrageous!
45	No. Unless it is local again, too expensive to travel and would rather save travel expenses for national MTNA convention.
46	If I attend, this (June) would be the least busy time for me and most likely time I would attend.
47	Yes, if it's in the summer.
48	Maybe
49	Yes. MOST DEFINATELY!!!
50	Yes. When I can afford it.
51	No. Cost.
52	No. Not unless the location and timing accommodate my schedule.
53	Yes. However, it may get harder to attend those that are a great distance from me (e.g. Miami or Pensacola), but I will make every effort to do so.
54	Not sure.
55	Don't know; I'm not actively teaching right now.
56	Yes, OF COURSE. EVERY ONE I CAN ATTEND!!!
57	Maybe
58	Yes. My problem is largely economic. I don't want to travel to a distant location and pay for hotel accommodations. But it is also personal. I have to stay close home to help take care of my elderly mother.
59	Maybe.
60	No. I am a senior member, and do not feel safe driving long distances any more.
61	Yes. Definitely.
62	Yes. I attend only those closest to our area; Pensacola
63	Yes. I would like to, but will need specific information about the conference
64	Yes. A fine organization- does wonderful work for a very worthy cause.
65	Yes. I am hoping so :-)
66	Yes. Networked and learned performance/teaching techniques!
